

ALLOW ME TO INTRODUCE MYSELF

Hi,

My name is Chris Simpson. I am a Kiwi expat living in Gothenburg for last the last 5 years. I have a solid grasp of the Swedish language which I use effectively in bar service situations

I am a bartender like no other with a unique skill set that has proven very valuable to my past employers. I have a passion for the art of bartending! Yes I say its an art because there are more intricacies involved then pouring liquid from a bottle into a glass. There is customer interaction, charisma, style and many other things that go into making a happy customer. A happy customer is a happy business!

Most of my experience comes from the city of Gold Coast in Australia. It is Australias vacation destination and has an extremely competitive bar and restaurant market. I have learned what it takes to take a bar business to the next level. From the ground up I have experienced it all. From the presentation and cleanliness of the venue, to the service, management of inventory and the marketing/promotions to increase sales. I have even spent time managing entertainment, attracting and booking functions and creating sellout events and parties.

From collecting glasses and cleaning toilets to running teams and entertaining I have done it all. I would like to offer you my wealth of knowledge and experience in this area to your business. I hope my good nature and solid work ethic will fit right in with your team. Please look into my resume to find out more.

Thanks for your time

Chris Simpson
